

Design, functionality and capability all rolled into one

Case story: Bespoke circle and arched channel manufactured for a high end spa and wellness retreat in the North of England

What the client needed

Matt Cartwright, Area Sales Manager for BLÜCHER for the North of England, says: Our customer required a solution where the floor drains and channels could withstand the variance of temperature in the spa, and support footfall from the public, whilst maintaining an luxurious appearance in line with the environment.

Solution

Alongside the drains for the changing room showers, using a bespoke design, BLÜCHER created a circular channel to surround the ice fountain, and an arched channel in grade 304 stainless steel with an infill grating to accompany the experience showers. Our infill gratings were the perfect choice for this spa setting, allowing a flawless finish of the chosen floor type against the drainage, completing the aesthetic appeal of the room.

Result (ROI)

The spa was equipped with a drainage system that takes the pressure of varied temperatures and customer use, yet still provides a contemporary, timeless appearance to disguise the highly effective waste water disposal system.

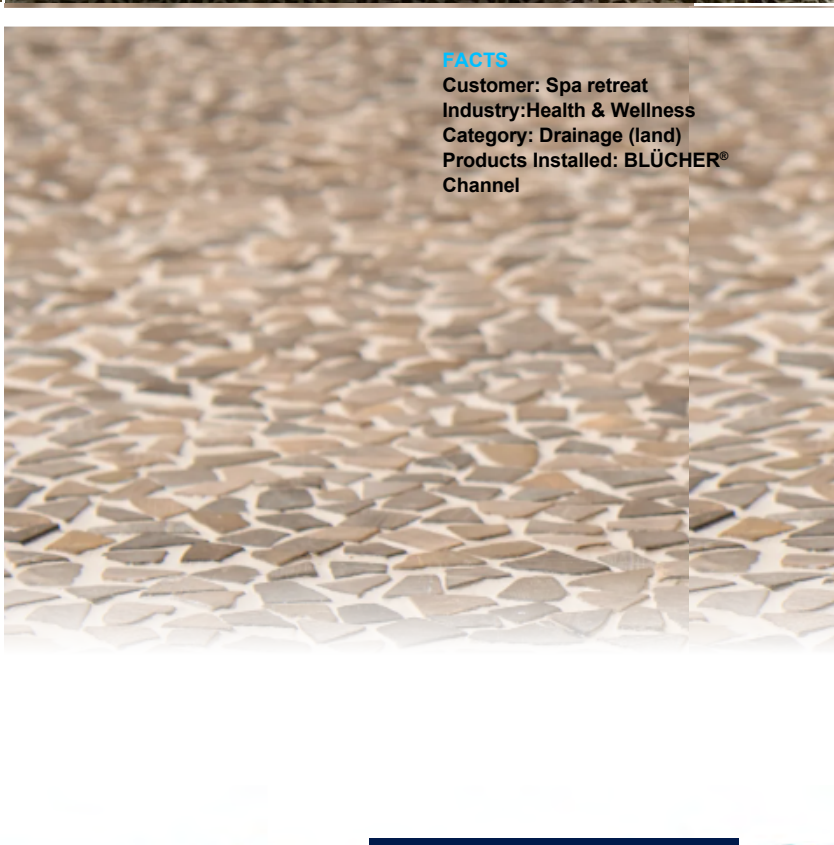

All parties were thrilled with the outcome.
