

"A fabulous heating solution for our quirky offices, even in the bank vault! In fact, we love them so much that we now recommend these radiators to our own clients when we design and build their workspace and office refurbs."

Brand new installation

Office design company

in Stalybridge, Greater Manchester

Top-to-toe warmth recommended by our clients.

This innovative office design company purchased a historical bank building in Stalybridge as their new premises. As the building was in a state of disrepair, they needed to source and install a new heating system.

The project owners challenged Rointe to provide an advanced heating solution that would give complete comfort for their employees in different settings, including a converted bank vault.

THE SOLUTION

Rointe visited the building to provide a Technical Study and determine the best product to install within the different spaces. The Kyros radiators were chosen in a classic white finish to not deflect from the bold design of the rooms.

THE RESULT

The owners of this company now enjoy a warm and welcoming atmosphere within their new location. They benefit from quality heating using the pre-installed schedules to automatically program the temperature and time. They now recommend Rointe heating systems to their own clients (like the project owners on page 23).

RECOMMENDED BY OUR CLIENTS

This office design company were so pleased with the efficiency, style and comfort of the Kyros system, that they now recommend Rointe heating products to their own clients. Our commitment to excellence and quality ensures satisfied customers every time.
