RD Content, a video content agency, made sure every single element of their new office was designed by them

Location: London

Client: RD Content

Sector: Commercial

Product: HydroTap Cube in brushed gold

The brief

- A tap that was designed to suit needs while being ergonomic to produce the best work possible.
- To create a refill culture and a single-use plastic bottle free environment.

The solution

After looking at a number of systems, RD Content chose to install a HydroTap Cube in brushed gold. Delivering filtered boiling, chilled and sparkling water at the touch of a button, the HydroTap has sped up drink making times while also cutting down on single-use plastic waste to meet sustainability objectives in the office.

The results

“Having instant filtered boiling water is a game-changer! Not only does it speed up drink-making for staff, but it means we can offer clients and guests drinks quickly and efficiently. The chilled water tastes great and definitely encourages the team to drink more, and having access to sparkling water is a bonus.”
