

Warner Howard - our business

Warner Howard has been the exclusive distributor of the World Dryer range of products in the UK since 1983, and has built its reputation as the premier experts in hand dryers in the market. Our team, which comprises in-house specialists and field-based consultants, is structured to provide the best support and advice possible for the entire industry.

We use our expert knowledge to help architects, specifiers, contractors and end users identify the most appropriate hand dryer for the environment in which it will be used. We supply the market exclusively through wholesalers with whom we have built excellent relationships, and we hold stock of all products - and their spares - and so can provide a fast delivery service to support our customers' needs.

WORLD DRYER
